

Mission-Critical Voice & Video Recording Technology for Public Safety

Since 1982, Northland & Companies has been, and remains, a recognized and leading provider of a full suite of mission-critical recording and security solutions. We are committed to delivering innovative solutions that help our clients enhance and future-proof their critical voice and video recording systems and operations. Our design, planning, implementation, training, and product management expertise spans all aspects of mission-critical recording technology. We provide both IT and voice and video recording technologies which help courts and public safety agencies perform a variety of essential tasks, including:

FOR MORE INFORMATION, CONTACT: