Traceability

The countdown is on!

The Final Traceability Rule (FSMA 204) is published, the Food Traceability List (FTL) developed, and the compliance date is just around the corner.

If you have an FTL food

You must establish and maintain

- CTEs (Critical Tracking Events). A food supply chain event involving the growing, receiving, transforming, creating, or shipping.
- KDEs (Key Data Elements). Information associated with a CTE for which a record would have to be established and maintained.

Complex? Yes! TAG can help:

- Determine if you are subject to the rule
- Develop systems compliant with the rule
- Identify appropriate data management tools
- Identify the CTEs and required KDEs for your records
- Analyze your processes for compliance
- Provide a written report detailing applicable CTEs and KDEs and next steps for implementation
