Who We Are

Metro Fusion is a young, diverse market. Many residents do not speak English fluently and have moved into their homes recently. They are highly mobile. More than three-quarters of households are occupied by renters. Many households have young children; a quarter are singleparent families. The majority of residents live in midsize apartment buildings. Metro Fusion is a hard-working market with residents who are dedicated to climbing the ladders of their professional and social lives. This is particularly difficult for the single parents due to median incomes that are 35 percent lower than the U.S. average.

Our Neighborhood

- Over 60% of the homes are multi-unit structures located in the urban periphery.
- Three quarters of residents are renters, and rents are about ten percent less than the U.S. average.
- The majority of housing units were built before 1990.
- Single-parent and single-person households make up over half of all households.

Socioeconomic Traits

- They're a diverse market with 30% black, 34% Hispanic and 20% foreign born.
- Younger residents are highly connected, while older residents do not have much use for the latest and greatest technology.
- They work hard to advance in their professions, including working weekends.
- They take pride in their appearance, consider their fashion trendy, and stick with the same few designer brands.
- They spend money readily on what's hot unless saving for something specific.
- Social status is very important; they look to impress with fashion and electronics.

Market Profile

- They enjoy watching MTV, BET, Spanish TV networks and pay-per-view.
- They listen to R&B, rap, Latin and reggae music.
- · Football and soccer are popular sports.
- They shop at discount grocery stores, Kmart and Walmart.
- They often eat frozen dinners, but when dining out prefer McDonald's, Wendy's and IHOP.

Who We Are

Family is central within these diverse communities. Hispanics make up more than 70 percent of the residents. More than one in four are foreign born, bringing rich cultural traditions to these neighborhoods in the urban outskirts. Dominating this market are younger families with children or single-parent households with multiple generations living under the same roof. These households balance their budgets carefully but also indulge in the latest trends and purchase with an eye to brands. Most workers are employed in skilled positions across the manufacturing, construction or retail trade sectors.

Our Neighborhood

- Family market; over a third of all households are married couples with children, with a number of multigenerational households and single-parent families; household size is higher than U.S. average at 3.59.
- While most residents live in single-family homes, almost 10% of householders reside in mobile home parks.
- Homes are owner occupied, with slightly higher monthly costs but fewer mortgages.
- Most are older homes, more than 60% built from 1950 to 1989.
- Most households have one or two vehicles; many commuters car pool or walk to work
- Urban Family residents live within the urban periphery of larger metropolitan areas across the South and West.

Socioeconomic Traits

- While a majority finished high school, over 40% have not.
- Unemployment is higher at 12% (Index 135); labor force participation is slightly lower at 61%.
- Nearly one in four households is below the poverty level.
- Residents balance their budgets carefully by spending only on necessities and limiting activities like dining out.
- Many have no financial investments or retirement savings, but they have their homes.

Market Profile

- Residents shop at discount department stores for baby and children's products.
- Many households subscribe to satellite television to watch their favorite Hispanic programs.
- Magazines are extremely popular sources of news and the latest trends, including baby, bridal and parenthood types of magazines.
- Typical of this diverse segment, Hispanic programming dominates the radio dials.

Who We Are

Front Porches blends household types, with more young families with children or single households than average. This group is also more diverse than the U.S. Half of householders are renters, and many of the homes are older townhomes or duplexes. Friends and family are central to Front Porches residents and help to influence household buying decisions. Residents enjoy their automobiles and like cars that are fun to drive. Income and net worth are well below the U.S. average, and many families have taken out loans to make ends meet.

Our Neighborhood

- Nearly one in five homes is a duplex, triplex or quad; half are older single-family dwellings.
- Just over half the homes are occupied by renters
- Older, established neighborhoods; three quarters of all homes were built before 1980.
- Single-parent families or singles living alone make up almost half of the households.

Socioeconomic Traits

- Composed of a blue-collar work force with a strong labor force participation rate, but unemployment is high at 11%.
- Price is more important than brand names or style to these consumers.
- With limited incomes, these are not adventurous shoppers.
- They would rather cook a meal at home than dine out.
- They seek adventure and strive to have fun.

Market Profile

- Go online for gaming, online dating and chat rooms.
- Use their cell phones to redeem mobile coupons and listen to hip hop and R&B music.
- Drink energy and sports drinks.
- Participate in leisure activities including sports, indoor water parks, bingo and video games.
- Watch Comedy Central, Nickelodeon and PBS Kids Sprout.

Who We Are

For this young Hispanic market, life has taken many turns recently. They are new to America and new to their careers, with new, young families. Many are new to the English language; more than one-third of households are linguistically isolated. NeWest Residents are ambitious and dream of a better life. They aren't ready to fully adopt the American way of life but are willing to take risks for the benefit of their families. As the breadwinners, the men of the house work long hours in blue collar jobs, primarily in the service industry. Skilled workers steer toward construction and manufacturing sectors. Female labor force participation is low, perhaps due to the language barrier, but also because of their parenting responsibilities.

Our Neighborhood

- They're concentrated in larger metropolitan areas (over half a million people) in the South and West.
- Reside in mostly renter-occupied apartments in older, mid- to high-rise buildings. Over 80% of housing units were built before 1990. Rental rates are below the U.S. average.
- More than half of the households have children, in either married-couple or singleparent families.
- With average household size exceeding three, presence of children less than 5 years old is high compared to the U.S. average.
- Dependent children represent one-third of the population.

Socioeconomic Traits

- Female labor force participation is low, partially attributable to the language barrier in this diverse, foreign-born market.
- Male labor force participation is compulsory for these new families.
- Working full-time in blue collar jobs, this market works hard and dreams big. They seek adventure and take risks for the betterment of their families.
- They are automotive enthusiasts, if they had the savings, they would buy a used, but bold, fun-to-drive vehicle.

Market Profile

- This foreign-born market has not yet adopted the norms of American life. They don't watch sports on TV, dine out often, or listen to popular music. They prefer to watch Spanishlanguage channels on TV.
- NeWest Residents consumers avoid coffee and soda, preferring sports or energy drinks instead.
- A large portion of their income goes toward baby and children products-disposable diapers, baby food, furniture and equipment, and vitamin supplements.
- They prefer to use cash; debit card ownership is low. Without a credit history, it is difficult for these new immigrants to obtain a credit card.

An overview of who makes up this segment across the United States

Who We Are

Located throughout the South and West, most American Dreamers residents own their own homes, primarily single-family housing--farther out of the city, where housing is more affordable. Median household income is slightly below average. The majority of households include younger married-couple families with children and, frequently, grandparents. Diversity is high; many residents are foreign born, of Hispanic origin. Hard work and sacrifice have improved their economic circumstance as they pursue a better life for themselves and their family. Spending is focused more on the members of the household than the home. Entertainment includes multiple televisions, movie rentals and video games at home or visits to theme parks and zoos. This market is connected and adept at accessing what they want from the Internet.

Our Neighborhood

- American Dreamers residents are family-centric and diverse. Most are married couples with children of all ages or single parents; multigenerational homes are common.
- Average household size is higher than U.S. average at 3.16.
- Residents tend to live further out from urban centers—more affordable single-family homes and more elbow room.
- Tenure is slightly above average with 65% owner occupancy; primarily single-family homes with more mortgages and slightly higher monthly costs.
- Three quarters of all housing were built since 1970.
- Many neighborhoods are located in the urban periphery of the largest metropolitan areas across the South and West.
- Most households have one or two vehicles available and a longer commute to work

Socioeconomic Traits

- While nearly 16% have earned a college degree, the majority, or 63%, hold a high school diploma only or spent some time at a college or university.
- Unemployment is higher at 10.7%; labor force participation is also higher at 67%.
- Most American Dreamers residents derive income from wages or salaries, but the rate of poverty is a bit higher in this market.
- They tend to spend money carefully and focus more on necessities.
- They are captivated by new technology, particularly feature-rich smartphones.
- Connected: They use the Internet primarily for socializing but also for convenience, like paying bills online.

Market Profile

- When dining out, these residents favor fastfood dining places such as Taco Bell or Wendy's, as well as family-friendly restaurants like Olive Garden, Denny's or IHOP.
- Cell phones are preferred over landlines.
- Favorite channels include Animal Planet, MTV, Cartoon Network, and Disney, as well as programming on Spanish TV.
- Residents listen to urban or Hispanic radio.
- During the summer, family outings to theme parks are especially popular.
